Q2. How does your education setting know if children need extra help? What do I do if I think my child has special educational needs?	Within the school, assessments are made through routine observations, formal assessments and teachers' judgement of the outcomes of pupils' work and other factors such as attendance and emotional well - being. The progress of all pupils is reviewed regularly by class teachers and this is monitored throughout the year. Alongside this, we welcome the views of parents and consider how best to support any needs parents have identified. We ask children to review their learning and provide opportunities for them to share that they feel they need extra help or are finding things difficult. Our pastoral team get involved early on for children where the school, parents, or the child feel extra help may be needed and they work very closely with the SEND team. We also consider recommendations from external agencies. If you are concerned about your child in any way, you should contact the Class Teacher in the first instance via the School Office: 023 80448502. At these meetings, support that is in place you're your child will be discussed, as well as suggestions for how you can support your child's learning outside of school. Q4. How will the education setting support my child?	What is available for all of our children	Extra help for individuals or small groups	Specialised support
Teaching	High quality teaching which ensures that every child is actively engaged in their learning and is making progress. Assessment for learning is used to inform planning for different levels of attainment to ensure that all children can access the curriculum.	Additional support or input is given by teachers or teaching assistants if children's progress is causing a concern.	Targeted support is put in place for children whose progress is falling well below national age expectations, where necessary. This support is personalised to the child and their particular area of need.
Learning / curriculum	We aim to ensure that all children receive a broad and balanced education with the greatest possible access to the full national curriculum and Religious Education.	Learning is differentiated for individuals/groups to ensure their full access and their ability to demonstrate their understanding.	The curriculum is adapted for children with significant needs to ensure they can both access and respond appropriately.
Support	Teachers ensure that they clearly communicate expectations and instructions so that the children know what they need to do.	Instructions may be simplified and presented visually. Children will be provided with scaffolding/support materials. Adults work closely with small groups/ individuals.	Children with SEND may be supported by external agencies who give input into personalised programmes to ensure the best possible learning outcomes. There is a school based support staff who have completed speech training as well as an external Speech and Language Support Assistant (SALSA) who works with children who have additional speech, language and communication needs. Targets are set and overseen initially by visits from the NHS Speech and Language Therapist (SALT) where there is a greater level of need. Our SEND support staff also deliver individualised support programmes from physiotherapists / occupational therapists as well as providing additional physical activities to aid learning and progress. Interventions based on individual needs are delivered by a range of staff where children need additional or different teaching to support their progress.

			Where additional and more regular adult support is required, our SEND support staff work with children on a timetabled basis. This ensures that children have a range of relationships and can be supported by a range of staff to ensure we are always able to meet their needs, whilst maintaining the wellbeing of our staff.
Environment and physical resources	St Patrick's is an inclusive school which welcomes all children regardless of their abilities. We are on a single level so have good disability access. We provide a well-resourced stimulating learning environment and our children have access to a wide range of additional educational experiences.	We have some additional learning areas for small groups / individuals to work in with an adult.	We have a range of resources to support personalised programmes in speech therapy, physiotherapy and occupational therapy. We use an additional space to provide intervention at an Engagement Model Level, to develop play and social skills which includes appropriate physical resources.
Emotional	St Patrick's works closely with families to support the social and emotional development of all children.	Our pastoral team, including our trained ELSAs provide small group or 1:1 support for children experiencing emotional difficulties.	Children identified as needing extra support to manage their feelings appropriately can be supported on an individual basis by our pastoral team and ELSAs. They listen to children's concerns, consult with adults working in the school and parents and are able to provide children with support in areas such as self-esteem, anger management, social and friendship difficulties, loss, bereavement, family break up.
Q5. How will the curriculum at your education setting be matched to my child's needs?	The curriculum is matched to your child's needs by the class teacher using the subject specific programmes that we use. If your child has Special Educational Needs or Disability (SEND), we provide SEN support and intervention programmes to assist in achieving good outcomes for our children. Any concerns identified by Teachers will be discussed with colleagues and, if needed, the Phase Leader at phase meetings/ pupil discussions, to identify what support and strategies can be implemented to best support your child. If needed, a Pupil Passport will be completed to capture this additional and targeted support and shared with you. These are reviewed each term to ensure the needs of your child are being met and to make any changes necessary to ensure the ongoing development of the child. Any additional support is provided based on funding available within the school budget.
Q6. How is the decision made about what type and how	The local authority provides funding for schools to meet the needs of all children with SEND. The decision about how much and what type of support your child receives will vary according to your child's needs. Decisions about additional support are made in

They also provide support to families, offering a listening ear, giving advice, running sessions for parents/carers to attend and can point families in the direction of external support and support them in accessing this if necessary. At St Patricks we feel strongly that children do not always want to talk at break time and lunchtimes, therefore we always have a member of the Pastoral Team available throughout the day. Q14. How will the school prepare and support my child to join the school or transfer to a new school?	We support all our pupils to make successful transitions to new schools but recognise that children with SEND might need additional support. Throughout the year, we have children who leave and arrive. Information is shared between schools in order to pass on a good understanding of the child's needs and abilities. This ensures that the move is as easy as possible for everyone involved. Where time and location allow, visits are arranged for the child in order for them to get to know some of the new staff and buildings and social stories may be written. When your child is preparing to start school in Foundation year, you will be offered the opportunity to 'stay and play' in July and either a home visit or an informal meeting in school before your child starts school in September. This gives you the opportunity to tell us all about your child. We offer a carefully planned start with several sessions which allows your child to feel comfortable and familiar with the new experience of coming to school. We also plan individual support to help children with additional needs settle into school successfully. Where it would be beneficial in understanding the needs of children with SEND, we also arrange visits to Early Years settings to meet with staff and look at any provision they have in place to support your child. If appropriate, we can then replicate aspects of this provision to give some familiarity to your child when they start with us.

	Year 6 staff, the school ELSAs and the SENCo liaise with receiving secondary schools to plan visits and share all the information needed to ensure as smooth a transition as possible to the new setting. Wherever possible, Children with SEND are offered additional transition visits tailored to their need and in smaller groups, supported by our school staff. Within St Patricks, all children take part in a transition day at the beginning of July in order to meet their new class teacher and other adults they may be working with.
